PERSONAL STAFF.

APPOINTMENT.

Fort St. George, November 19, 1908.

No. 641.—His Excellency the Governor is pleased to make the following appointment on His Excellency's Personal Staff:—

Lieutenant C. Jarvis, 20th Deccan Horse, to be Adjutant, His Excellency the Governor's Body Guard, with effect from the 30th October 1908, vice Lieutenant C. C. Walker resigned.

NOTIFICATION.

Fort St. George, November 24, 1908.

No. 642.—His Excellency the Governor in Council has received with very deep regret the intelligence of the death of Sir Vembakam Bhashyam Aiyangar, Kt., C.I.E., and desires to record his appreciation of his high character as well as of the public services rendered by the deceased in the course of a long, strenuous and distinguished career.

He served almost continuously as a member of the Provincial Legislative Council since his first nomination to it in the year 1888 and in that capacity he was ever ready to place his great abilities as a jurist and his intimate acquaintance with the practical working of the laws at the service of the Council.

So pre-eminent a position had he attained in his profession that he was appointed to officiate as Advocate-General in the Presidency, being the first Indian to occupy that great place; the duties of which he performed with fidelity and indefatigable industry. In 1901 he was elevated to the Bench as a Judge of the High Court of Judicature, an office which he discharged with conspicuous ability and with great satisfaction to the public.

His public services and his high personal character have been recognized by the Government on many occasions. His loss will be greatly felt both by the Government and the people. The memory of his honourable life will long survive him to furnish an inspiring example to his countrymen.

All such arms and ammunition, whether they form part of the ordinary equipment of such vessels or are the personal property of the master, the officers or the crew working on board such vessels, shall be entered in the import and export manifests or cargo-books of the vessels.

No. 501.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 157 (a) of the Sea Customs Act and in supersession of all previous orders on the subject, the Governor of Madras in Council is pleased to order the extension of certain provisions of the Sea Customs Act as shown below to coasting vessels:—

(i) All the provisions of sections 54, 55, 57, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 81, 82, 83, 85, 88, 136, 141, 142 and 143 of the Sea Customs Act are extended to all steamers and square-rigged vessels engaged in the coasting trade other than vessels plying under a general pass granted under section 164 of the Act, subject to the following provisos:—

Proviso to section 55.

(a) With the permission of the Collector of Customs the master may deliver to the Customs officer authorised to receive the same, in lieu of the manifest in the form prescribed in section 55, an extract from the cargo-book duly signed. Proviso to section 56.

(b) No fee shall be charged for filing an amended or supplementary manifest when it is filed within 24 hours from the time of inward entry. If filed after the expiration of 24 hours and within seven days from the time of inward entry, a fee of Re. 1 shall be charged; after the expiration of seven days the fee shall be Rs. 5.

Proviso to section 61.

Proviso to section 64.

(d) The Collector of Customs may forthwith grant port-clearance upon the agents' furnishing a guarantee for the discharge of all claims.

Section 63—period to be reduced.

(e) Section 63 is so far extended that every application shall be made by or on behalf of the master at least 4 hours before the intended departure of the vessel and that the provisions of section 55 relating to amendments of the import manifest shall mutatis mutandis apply to the export manifest, and that an extract from the cargo-book can be produced in lieu of the manifest.

Proviso to section 83.

(f) Whenever goods are landed under the provisions of section 83 it shall be within the option of the master of the vessel to carry free goods to the warehouse of the agent of the vessel instead of to the Custom-house subject to any rules made by Government under Madras Act III of 1885.

(ii) When, in the case of vessels coming from customs ports only, and having no dutiable cargo, the duplicate shipping bills are delivered with the manifest as provided in section 159 of the Sea Customs Act (VIII of 1878), the cargo may be forthwith landed and removed by the owner without entry thereof and clearance for home consumption; but to all cargo not covered by shipping bills the provisions of chapters VII and IX are hereby extended.

(iii) In the case of vessels referred to in clause (5), section 162, that have touched at foreign ports, or have on board dutiable cargo, the free cargo from customs ports may be dealt with as prescribed in rule 2 (ii) above as soon as the dutiable cargo from customs ports and all cargo from foreign ports has been discharged.

(iv) All the provisions of sections 61, 83, 85, 88 and 136 are extended to all coasting vessels other than steamers and square-rigged vessels and vessels plying under a general pass.

(e) of taking care that the articles be exhibited in the true producer's name.

7. Special Committees and Representatives will also be appointed abroad for the same purpose, by the Chambers of Commerce or by the Consular Agents or any other appropriate Institutions and Associations.

Other local Committees may be appointed in the most important localities of the Districts of the Chambers of Commerce, with the object of aiding the District Committees and of fulfilling such duties as may be entrusted to them by the Executive or by the District Committee.

Members of the local Committees may only be elected by the Executive, and the District Committee may nominate the persons most fit for such a charge.

8. It will further be the duty of the District and local Committees to complete the necessary arrangements for making known and appreciated the importance of each industry, whether carried on in manufactories or in the home, such as for instance collecting information on the special nature of the products, the wages of workmen, the exportation and consumption and all improvements and innovations introduced in the methods of manufacture.

This information must reach the Executive not later than January 1910.

Exhibitors.

Application for admission

9 All persons who desire to exhibit must forward to the local Committee the application for admission (Form A) in duplicate copy, duly filled in, with the required information together with all notices leading to illustrate their products and the relative industry. The said applications must be sent in before March 31st, 1910, and by his application the exhibitor engages himself to comply with the regulations and all rules that may be further established by the Executive.

Each separate application must relate only to such exhibits as appertain to the same class.

10. Italian as well as foreign Exhibitors will be admitted to the Exhibition Halls where they will occupy the spaces allotted them by the Executive in accordance with the classification of articles and in such a manner that each stand shall be, as far as possible, disposed in conformity with the Programme.

Collective shows.

11. The Executive Committee is however empowered to grant under special conditions, to the more important exhibitors, and especially those who exercise several industries or several branches of an individual industry, and who may desire to give the visitors an idea of the extent of their entire output, the faculty to exhibit the whole of their products in separate kiosks. Of course the judgment on such products will take place competitive with the exhibits of the same class.

Special Kiosks.

12. Should the Executive grant some firm or group of Producers of the same kind the faculty of exhibiting their products in a particular kiosk, the application for any such separate building must reach the Executive not later than March 31st, 1910.

With the said application it will be necessary to send a drawing representing the particular building, for the approval of the Committee; which building must be constructed and paid for by the exhibitor himself.

Requests of Motive Power, etc.

13. The Exhibitor who desires to send machines or other objects which will require special constructions, ground work or the use of water, gas, steam, or electric power to set the machines in motion, or to represent any operation of manufactures, must forward a special application, not later than December 31st, 1909, giving all necessary information.

14. Producers are requested to state in their applications the prizes they have already obtained at other national or foreign Exhibitions, and all other information asked for in the form.

15. All communications between Exhibitors and the Executive Committee, prior to the opening of the Exhibition, must be made through the provincial Committee.

16. To the Executive Committee shall appertain the sole right of:

(a) Accepting definitively, complete or partial, the articles, and refusing those having no industrial value;

(b) Granting the allotment to each exhibitor of the space within the precincts of the Exhibition. No complaint in this respect will be entertained.

The Executive Committee will assign to each exhibitor a serial number which must be mentioned in every action or complaint.

Admission Fee and Space Tax.

17. Every admitted exhibitor will have to pay an inscription fee of 10 Frs. and a special tax in proportion to the surface they occupy (see the special Tariff annexed to this Regulations).

The whole inscription fee and a half of the proportional tax for each unit of surface must be sent in within 30 days from the date of the certificate of admission (Form B), and the other half before December 31st, 1910.

If however, the total amount does not exceed 100 Frs. the payment must be made in full.

The exhibitor who does not send in the balance within the prescribed term, cannot claim the reimbursement of the first payment which will go to the benefit of the Exhibition, without intimation or resorting to legal proceedings.

Should the inscription fee not have been paid in full by the exhibitor within the term prescribed, he will lose his right to exhibit, and the Executive can dispose of his place after January 15th, 1911.

Carriage expenses.

18. All expenses for transportation, delivery and expedition, packing, removal, storage of the objects and implements, as well as for the provision of duly prepared counters, show-cases, platforms, etc., and for the care of the objects in the Exhibition, in conformity with the regulations set forth by the Executive, will be at the total charge of the Exhibitors.

Counters and show-cases.

To Exhibitors will be let on hire counters, show-cases, dressers, etc., if so requested in the application for admission.

Invoice directions

19. Every article must be sent free of any charge to the Exhibition, and:

(a) In the least possible number of packages;

(b) With the indication of the number of packages forming the total invoice; if there be a single package, it must be marked No. 1, if of more than one, each of them must be marked visibly and clearly with a fraction, the denominator of which will be the total number of the packages, and the numerator the progressive number: for instance, if there be three packages, each must bear the sign, 1/3, 2/3, 3/3, respectively;

(c) Should many packages be sent in a single box, a special notice to that effect must be written on the address label;

(d) The address ought to be securely attached and written in conformity with Form D. The indication of the class, serial number of the exhibitor, and the said fraction must be written on three sides of the box.

Way-bills.

20 The Exhibitors must at the same time with the articles, fill up the bill of expedition (Form C) in triplicate copy in which are to be enumerated the exhibits contained in each package, stating their weight, value and serial number. The exhibitors must moreover make know their address in Town or that of their Agents, so that they can be sent for assistance at the operation of unpacking, delivery and placing, according to the directions of the Executive Committee. Failing such directions or in case of delay on the part of the exhibitor, the Executive will provide for the said operations at the exhibitor's expense, without assuming any responsibility.

List of exhibits.

21. In each package or case the exhibitors must enclose a list of the objects contained therein.

The Exhibitor must also attach to each object a label bearing the serial number assigned to him by the Executive, and mentioned in the letter of admission.

22. One of the three copies of the Bill of expedition (Form C) must be forwarded by the exhibitor in a letter addressed to the Executive Committee, to be posted on the date of the expedition; a second copy must be delivered at the Railway Office together with the way-bill, and the third copy must be kept by the exhibitor for the withdrawal of the articles at the close of the Exhibition.

Delivery terms.

23 Exhibits will be received from the 1st to the 31st March 1911; the Committee however reserves the right of fixing other dates for goods of exceptional value and for such goods as are liable to become spoiled through being kept packed for any length of time.

Heavy or bulky goods, machines and such articles which will require special ground work or mountings, must be consigned before 15th January 1911.

Exhibits unpacking and placing.

24 Each Exhibitor or his Representative must assist at the unpacking and placing of the exhibits, following the instructions that the Gallery-Inspector may give in the name of the Executive or special Committees. Should any exhibitor fail to provide for the unpacking and placing of his products, the Committee will do it at the total charge of the exhibitor himself, without assuming any responsibility. This to be done without prejudicing in any way the dispositions of article 25.

25. Should any exhibitor not have placed his products before March 31st, 1911, he will lose all right to exhibit and his certificate of admission will become void; both the inscription fee and space tax will go in favour of the Exhibition fund without any formality or legal proceedings. Moreover the Committee may order the uncompleted stand to be taken away at the exhibitor's expense.

Empty Packing.

26. The cases as soon as they are emptied must be removed by the Exhibitor or his Agent, failing which the Executive will have them stored at the expense and risk of the exhibitor, and without assuming any responsibility for the same.

All empty cases and packing materials that after one month from the close of the Exhibition have not been taken away will be considered as having been abandoned.

Customs and Transport facilities.

27 For the advantage and convenience of exhibitors the Executive will:

Right to sell.

28 Articles must be exhibited with the names of the producers and inventors and an indication of their market price. All demonstrative objects, supplies, bills or publications which the exhibiting Firms may desire to use to distribute at or near their stands within the space allotted to them, must first be submitted to the Executive Committee for approval (said approval to be given in writing).

The Executive Committee will take care to obtain a special Bill for the protection of the artistic and industrial property of the exhibits.

29. All machines will be placed in departments containing the class of products they are adapted for, and, when possible, set in motion before the public, so that visitors may easily view their manner of working and production.

Obnoxious Materials.

30 Explosives and all materials of a dangerous nature will be rigorously excluded from the Exhibition Galleries and Precincts.

All substances that are likely to cause chemical change in other products, such as alcoholic spirits, oils and organic matter, and those which may be troublesome and noisome either to exhibitors or visitors will not be admitted or less they are hermetically sealed in swift vessels and bear the particular guarantee which will be required in each case by the Executive.

31. The Executive Committee reserves to itself the right of rejecting or having removed, at any moment such products which on account of their imperfection are not judged worthy to be exhibited, also those which on account of their size or constitution, or for other reasons may be obnoxious or in opposition to general organization and decency, and those which are found to be of a different origin to that declared by the exhibitor.

Exhibits Sale.

34. Objects admitted to the Exhibition must not be removed until after its close, except in special cases for which it will be necessary to obtain a written authorization from the Committee. The sale of objects exhibited within the precincts of the Exhibition will be permitted, on the condition however that they are not removed before the close of the Exhibition. No invitation to purchase is allowed: it will be only permitted to hand visitors addresses and prospectuses when so requested.

35. Exhibitors or their representatives will have free admission to the Exhibition provided they have the special personal ticket supplied them by the Committee in conformity with principles which will be later on prescribed. The representative of more than one exhibitor will be entitled to one ticket only.

After this act from the Committee will have the operations carried out at the exhibitor's expense, without rendering itself liable for any damages or losses, nor for inconveniences arising with regard to customs-duty or charges for re-exportation.

After the lapse of another fortnight, should the objects not have been removed, they may be sent to the exhibitor, to be paid for on delivery, or stored at the expense and risk of the exhibitor and without any responsibility resting with the Executive Committee.

Within three months from the date of the close of the Exhibition, the remaining objects will be considered as having been abandoned in favour of the Exhibition.

The exhibitors in particular kiosks or pavilions must clear away every thing and leave the ground in its original state, removing all materials left after the demolition within the term of three months after the closing of the Exhibition. If otherwise the exhibitors will not be allowed to carry their articles away without first having given a sufficient guarantee that this duty shall be duly performed.

The following Resolution of the Government of India is republished :—

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

TELEGRAPH ESTABLISHMENT.

Simla, the 21st October 1908.

No 2640—2643—138

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

In September 1906, a Committee was appointed by the Government of India under the presidency of Sir Lewis Tupper to consider and report, inter alia, what changes should be made in order to improve the existing organisation of the signalling establishment of the Indian Telegraph Department. A number of memorials received from the signallers of the Department representing certain grievances, and asking for an improvement in their pay and prospects, were at the same time referred to the Committee for examination.

2. The signalling staff of the Indian Telegraph Department is at present divided into two branches, viz., the General Scale, members of which are liable for service anywhere in India and Burma, and the Local Scale, which consists of signallers engaged for service within the province in which they are recruited. Both the General Scale and the Local Scale are divided into four grades, known as the Superior, Good, Average and Indifferent grades, and for each grade in each scale a separate rate of pay is laid down, increasing by annual increments from the first to the sixteenth year of service, when the maximum is attained. Signallers on first joining the Department are appointed to the Average Grade, the initial pay of which is Rs 40 per mensem in the case of the General Scale, and Rs 35 per mensem in the case of the Local Scale. No signaller is ever appointed directly to the Indifferent Grade, but signallers may be reduced to it for misconduct. Promotion to the Good and Superior Grades has hitherto been granted as the result of a general examination which is usually held once in five years. The number of appointments in the Superior Grade is, however, limited to ten per cent., and in the Good Grade to thirty per cent., of the total strength of the signalling establishment. The maximum pay in the Superior Grade is Rs 195 (General Scale) and Rs 130 (Local Scale), and in the Good Grade Rs. 162 (General Scale) and Rs. 108 (Local Scale). The time at which a signaller can obtain promotion to the Good and Superior Grades depends on the period which elapses between his recruitment and the occurrence of a general examination, and also on the number of vacancies.

3. Signallers are eligible for promotion to the permanent rank of Telegraph Master after eighteen years' service, or after fifteen years' service including not less than two years' service in the aggregate as officiating or temporary Telegraph Master. The first grade Telegraph Masters receive a consolidated salary of Rs 275 per mensem, but those in the second and third grades draw their pay as signallers, plus allowances of Rs. 50 and Rs. 25 a month, respectively; temporary Telegraph Masters receive a monthly allowance of Rs 20. The Traffic Sub-Assistants, who hold charge of the most important offices in the country, apart from the four offices which are in the hands of gazetted officers, receive fixed pay at Rs. 350 a month, and may be considered to form the high st grade of the signalling establishment.

4 In addition to their ordinary salaries, members of the signalling establishment also receive certain additional allowances, viz. :—

(1) Burma Allowance.—This allowance is paid at the rate of 30 per cent of salary, subject to a maximum of Rs 40 a month, to all General Service signallers and Telegraph Masters serving in Burma.

(2) House Allowance.—This allowance is paid at rates, varying according to locality, to General Service signallers and Telegraph Masters who are not provided with free quarters. In Calcutta, Bombay and Rangoon, the rate is Rs. 50 a month for Telegraph Masters and Rs 20 a month for signallers, in certain other large centres Rs. 30 a month for Telegraph Masters and Rs 10 a month for signallers, and elsewhere Rs. 10 a month for Telegraph Masters and Rs. 5 a month for signallers. The allowance is not intended to cover the whole cost of house rent, but as an assistance towards it.

(3) Pie Money.—On certain heavily worked main lines, in order to expedite traffic, signallers are paid 2 pies a message on all messages disposed of in excess of 80 per day.

(4) Overtime.—Signallers are paid overtime at rates approximately equal to time and a quarter for all work done outside the ordinary hours of duty fixed by Government.

5 The Telegraph Committee found that the existing system was a very complicated one and had serious defects. Unless a signaller were content with a maximum pay of Rs. 150 or Rs. 87, promotion to a higher rate of pay could be obtained only through the Grade Examination, for which all the signallers in the department were entitled to enter. Such a system of promotion could be successfully worked, if at all, only in a comparatively small service; but with the continued increase in the signalling establishment the examination had become unwieldy, and in fact threatened to break down altogether. At the last examination, which was held in 1903, so numerous were the candidates (1,716) that an officer had to be placed on special duty for nine months to conduct it, and the examination could not be held simultaneously for all, with the result that more than one series of papers had to be set, and it became impossible to ensure that the standard of examination was the same in all cases. The examination itself has always included a number of educational subjects and has not been sufficiently practical to be a satisfactory test of fitness for promotion. The names of the grades are invidious, for one operator is styled "Superior" and another "Average," although both may turn out work at the same speed and with equal accuracy, while a third may be branded as "Indifferent," not necessarily because he is a bad operator, but because he has committed an offence. The annual increment ceases after the sixteenth year of service, and if a signaller is not selected for promotion to Telegraph Master, he has little incentive to exertion in the latter years of his service, with the result that there is a tendency to be content with the lowest outturn of work which is sufficient to avoid punishment. Finally, the Committee were satisfied that the existing rates of pay were inadequate and that an improvement was called for. These rates were fixed, in the case of the General Scale, more than forty years ago, and when the increase in the cost of living which had taken place in the interval was taken into account, it was clear that better pay and prospects must be offered in order to obtain suitable recruits. The Committee therefore submitted proposals for the introduction of a new and improved scale of pay.

6. The scheme of re-organization advocated by the Committee received careful consideration. The Government of India recognized the care and thoroughness with which their recommendations had been framed, and fully admitted the justice of the criticisms passed on the present system. They were unable, however, to accept the scheme as it stood. In the scheme which has been finally adopted, while the general principles laid down by the Committee have been adhered to, the details have been simplified and the rates of pay have been improved to a somewhat greater extent than was recommended by the Committee. It is unnecessary to describe the Committee's proposals in detail, for they have been superseded by the scheme which has been adopted by the Government of India, and has now received the approval of the Secretary of State for India. The new scales of pay, which will be introduced with effect from the 1st July 1908, are described in the paragraphs which follow.

7 All the signallers in the Department will in future be styled Telegraphists. For the General Service telegraphists it has been decided to adopt a scale of pay starting on Rs. 50 and rising to Rs. 200 in the twentieth year of service, by eight annual increments of Rs. 5 a month and eleven annual increments of Rs 10 a month. and for the Local Service telegraphists, a scale of pay rising from Rs. 35 in the first year to Rs 130 in the twenty-second year by five annual increments of Rs. 3 a month and sixteen annual increments of Rs 5 a month. In framing these scales the Government of India took into consideration the fact that the members of the Local Service received a moderate increase of pay for the first eight or nine years of service in 1902, when the initial pay was raised from Rs 27 to Rs. 35. They also considered it advisable that the period within which the maximum pay could be attained should be somewhat longer than in the General Scale, in view of the fact that fewer appointments of Telegraph Master are open to the Local Service. The old and the new scales of pay are compared in Appendix I to this Resolution. It may be added that the staff will continue to draw the allowances enumerated in paragraph 4 of this Resolution, but with effect from the 1st of November 1908 a revised system of pie-money will be introduced, the minimum number of messages being raised from 80 to 140, and the remuneration for each message above the minimum from 2 pies to 4 pies.

8 At two periods the work of all telegraphists will be subjected to a special investigation, in the first case with a view to advancing men of proved efficiency and merit, in the second case with a view to keeping back men who are considered unfit for promotion. At the end of the fifth year of service each man's record will be reviewed, and if it is satisfactory in all respects, he will be considered to have earned a double increment, which will raise his pay from Rs 70 to Rs 80 in the case of the General Service, and from Rs 47 to Rs. 50 in the case of the Local Service. The object of the double increment is to stimulate men at the beginning of their service to make themselves thoroughly efficient signallers at the earliest possible date, five years being regarded as the time usually necessary for this. But in considering the claims of each member of the staff, both efficiency as a telegraphist and general conduct will be taken into account.

Similarly, at the end of the fourteenth year of service (in the case of those who earn a double increment at the end of the thirteenth year) an Efficiency Bar will be placed; and the record of each man will again be reviewed. In order to enable a telegraphist to draw a rate of pay in excess of that which he then enjoys, it must be certified by the Superintendent of the office or division in which he is serving, (a) that he is an operator of recognised ability and merit, (b) that his character and record are quite satisfactory, and (c) that he can regulate and efficiently adjust the ordinary apparatus in use at the office at which he is placed, and has at least shown some interest in, and knowledge of, technical matters. If, before reaching the Efficiency Bar a telegraphist has either succeeded in passing the Departmental technical examination, or, alternatively, if it is certified that he has given evidence of possessing those capacities and qualifications which are required from a Telegraph Master, then, in either case, provided his record is satisfactory in all respects, such a telegraphist would, as a matter of course, be considered as fit to pass the Efficiency Bar.

9. For Telegraph Masters (present 2nd and 3rd grades), a scale of pay has been sanctioned rising from Rs. 200 to Rs. 250 by annual increments of Rs. 10 in the General Scale, and from Rs. 150 to Rs. 180 by similar increments in the Local Scale. The minimum of the Telegraph Masters' scale will thus be the same as the maximum of the telegraphists' scale, but a telegraphist, who has already been in receipt of the maximum for one year, will, on promotion, draw his first increment in the higher scale without further service. All permanent Telegraph Masters will at once be brought upon the new scales.

It has been decided that the Traffic Sub-Assistants shall in future be styled "Deputy Superintendents, 1st Class", and the 1st grade Telegraph Masters, "Deputy Superintendents, 2nd Class". The Deputy Superintendents, 2nd Class, will be placed on an incremental scale rising from Rs. 250 to Rs. 325 by annual increments of Rs. 15. Deputy Superintendents, 1st Class, will be placed on a higher scale rising from Rs. 325 to Rs. 400 by similar increments, but, in addition, eight of the officers in the class will, after attaining the maximum of Rs. 400, be permitted to rise by annual increments of Rs. 25 to Rs. 500. Four new appointments have been created in this class.

10. In addition to the Deputy Superintendents and permanent Telegraph Masters, there are a large number of temporary Telegraph Masters who receive monthly allowances of Rs. 20 in addition to their pay as telegraphists. The Government of India are satisfied that the total number of the supervisory staff is in excess of the present needs of the department and that it will be necessary to make a reduction in the number of temporary Telegraph Masters employed. The new scale of pay has been fixed after full consideration of the fact that some of the temporary Telegraph Masters allowances will ultimately be withdrawn, and while existing incumbents, who may have an equitable claim to the continuance of the allowances, will still receive them as personal allowances in addition to their grade pay until they are promoted, retire or die, no claim to compensation for the withdrawal of the allowances can be entertained from the staff generally. The Director-General has been instructed to institute a careful examination of the position in this matter, and when this has been completed the proper supervising staff of each office will be determined in accordance with certain standards which will be definitely laid down.

11. The Government of India wish it to be understood that in future all promotion from one class to another will be made entirely by selection, and that mere seniority will give no claim whatever to promotion from telegraphist to Telegraph Master, or from Telegraph Master to Deputy Superintendent. The existing limits of service for promotion to the permanent rank of Telegraph Master, referred to in paragraph 3 of this Resolution, will be withdrawn. Most Telegraph Masters at present belong to the Superior and Good Grades, admission to which has been obtained by passing the Grade Examinations, which included both technical subjects and others of a general and educational character. In future, with the abolition of the Grade System, this examination will cease to exist, but a departmental technical examination will be instituted, the passing of which will be an indispensable qualification for promotion to the rank of Telegraph Master. In the opinion of the Government of India, no telegraphist can be considered fit to hold charge of an office, unless he is fully qualified to perform all ordinary testing work, and this will be insisted on in future. Facilities will be afforded to all telegraphists, who show promise, to obtain the necessary technical training, and members of the staff will find it to their advantage to go up as early as possible for this examination.

12. The manner in which existing members of the signalling establishment should be brought upon the new scale is fully set forth in Appendix II to this Resolution. It is necessary, however, to give some explanation of the principles by which the Government of India have been guided in dealing with this matter. The practice in the British Post Office, when a new scale of pay is introduced, is that each man comes upon the new scale at the stage, the pay of which most nearly approximates to the pay which he is drawing at the time, and if this procedure had been followed in the case of the Indian Telegraph Department the immediate benefit to the staff would have been almost inappreciable. The Government of India, however, consider that the arrangements made must satisfy two conditions:—

(1) That an immediate increase of pay should be given to as large a number of the staff as possible, and

(2) That so far as possible the increase should be equitably distributed between the men of the different grades and years of service.

If the members of the Average Grade had been at once given the full benefit of the new scale of pay, it would not have been possible to give any immediate increase to the members of the Good and Superior Grades, and the latter would have been deprived wholly or partially of the advantage which they had gained over their contemporaries by success in the Grade Examination. It was felt that this would not be equitable, and that some other solution must be found. In accordance with the arrangements finally sanctioned the members of the Average Grade, General Scale, while receiving at once a substantial increase of pay, come upon the new scale a year lower down than they would have reached if it had been in force when they entered the service. Most of the members of the Superior Grade receive a moderate increase of pay and all the members of the Good Grade a substantial increase, but it must be remembered that as those who belong to the Superior Grade are likely to receive earlier promotion than their contemporaries, they will benefit most by the higher scales of pay which have been prescribed for Telegraph Masters and Deputy Superintendents. In the Local Scale the arrangements are somewhat different owing to the fact that in their case the initial pay has not been increased.

13. The cost of the new scale of pay exceeds that of the existing scale by about five and a half lakhs of rupees.

14. The Government of India are satisfied that the need for improving the pay of postal signallers is at least as great as that in the case of telegraphists of the Indian Telegraph Department. A grant for the purpose will be placed at the disposal of the Director-General of the Post Offices of India in the year 1908-1909, who will decide what increase of pay is necessary with reference to the local conditions of each combined Post and Telegraph office.

15. The Government of India consider that the public may reasonably look for a higher standard of efficiency from the department in view of the improvement of pay and prospects which has been granted, and they confidently expect that this will be the case. In particular, a larger output on the part of each individual signaller is urgently called for and must be attained. The Government of India have learned with pleasure that a decided improvement is already noticeable in this respect, and while the change is no doubt mainly due to the reforms which have recently been introduced, they cordially recognise that without the co-operation of the staff nothing could have been accomplished. They trust that such co-operation will continue to be ungrudgingly given, and that progress will be rapid and uninterrupted.

Ordered, that a copy of this Resolution be communicated to the Finance Department, to the Director-General of Telegraphs, and to the Director-General of the Post Office of India.

Ordered, also, that it be published in the Gazette of India.

(8) Candidates choosing to change their place of examination without previous permission, or appearing at any centre other than the one at which they ought to have appeared according to the notice published in the Gazette, must not expect to have their papers valued or their results published. In all cases where permission has been granted, the memorandum or letter permitting the change should be produced for the satisfaction of the Superintendents

(9) A candidate having completed his paper will rise from his seat and remain standing until the Superintendent takes his answer papers. Any candidate wishing to ask any question of the Superintendent will pursue the same course, but will on no account leave his place.
